

Marlboro Racing'90

These guys know how to take the checkered flag. At Indy, Emerson Fittipaldi took it on the first lap last year. And at Indy Jr. 1985, Danny Sullivan took it after spinning 360° between turns 1 and 2. Now these two CART/FPG Indy Car World Series Champions bring their horsepower to the Marlboro Racing Team '90. For 16 races, including the Marlboro Grand Prix, Marlboro 500 and the Marlboro Challenge, which is the only race held just for CART's top guns, their Chevy-powered Marlboro Porsche Chassis will be the ones to catch—traveling faster than one football field every second. Sure, Fittipaldi and Sullivan are fatalities, but when the green flag drops, it's every man for himself.
